

Established in the 1970s, the Coconut Industry Investment Fund Oil Mills Group (CIIF OMG) is a conglomerate of strategically located oil mills and refineries in the Philippines.

Its operating plants have a combined annual crushing capacity of 370,000 metric tons of copra with a refining capacity of 240,000 metric tons of different grades of processed coconut oils. The oil mills' total crushing capacity accounts for about 10% of the country's coconut oil milling industry.

Copra Buying Stations (CBS) are setup in locations near coconut farmers and local dealers, to gather and buy the copra. This assures the oil mill plants sufficient stocks to keep the manufacturing operations dynamic.

Through the years, the CIIF OMG has proven to serve global demands for coconut-based fats and oils and raw materials for animal feeds.

CIIF OMG's very own local coconut cooking oil brand "Minola" consistently demonstrates leadership in the Philippine vegetable oil business. It has been in the Philippine market for over 50 years.

As a matter of policy, CIIF-OMG complies with the provisions and regulations as laid down in the Code of Corporate Governance. In this regard, CIIF-OMG required the directors to attend the Orientation Program on Corporate Governance for GOCCs by the Institute of Corporate Directors (ICD) as part of their governance training.
